West Greeley Conservation District announces program for grass seeding

West Greeley Conservation District has announced their annual grass reseeding project for land owners within Weld County. Anyone interested in participating in this program is urged to start planning now for this important conservation measure. Reseeding will be conducted from October through early May, yet preparation measures before the cold season begins is often times critical for the success of your reseeding efforts.

The services offered by the WGCD are ideal for the small acreage owner or anyone else who wants an effective and cost efficient way to receive consultation services as well as professional reseeding applications. The cost of seed varies and depends upon the needs of the land owner but can average less than $50 per acre, while application costs are minimal at approximately $16 per acre for drilling and a nominal travel cost depending upon the location of the project.
